American FactFinder

The American Community Survey (ACS) is a new nationwide survey designed to provide communities a fresh look at how they are changing. It is a critical element in the Census Bureau's reengineered 2010 census plan. The ACS collects information such as age, race, income, commute time to work, home value, veteran status, and other important data from U.S. households. As with the official decennial census, information about individuals will remain confidential.

Data users can access this detailed demographic and housing data annually instead of waiting 10 years for decennial census data, helping them make more accurate, timely and informed decisions.

The ACS began in 1996 and has expanded each subsequent year. The full implementation began in January 2005, and the 2005 and 2006 ACS data are available for geographic areas with a population of 65,000 or more. In 2008, data will be available for all areas of 20,000 or more, as a three-year period estimate (2005-2007). For small areas less than 20,000, it will take 5 years to accumulate a large enough sample to provide estimates with accuracy similar to the decennial census. Beginning in 2010, and every year thereafter, the nation will have this five-year period estimate available, a resource that shows change over time, even for neighborhoods and rural areas.
